

LOOKING AT THE NEWS
WITH COLONEL HUGH CLARK

Railway passenger traffic is one of our unimportant items of another slump. The board of railway commissioners is restricting the issue of passes.

One of the finest characters in Canadian public life passed away with Frank Oliver. Independent, honest, straightforward and courageous, his public life was one struggle after another. On one occasion he denounced his opponents as thugs, thieves, blackmailers and percherlancers and when ordered to withdraw he apologized if his words were too flattering.

When fighting political friends he did not mince his words and yet he always held the respect and admiration of friends and foes alike.

The Russians owe Britain over a billion pounds. Yet she can't get even an apology from them.

It may or may not be an advantage to the politicians that the things people are talking about for are not the things they will be talking about a year or two hence.

Let us not go off at half cock on this thing, by the democratic process of election the Nazis are the government of Germany and are recognized as such by Great Britain. It is alleged they are persecuting Jews in that country. This is the latter government denies. In Canada and the United States we have people trying to involve us in the struggle by calling public meetings of protest and organizing boycotts, in violation of what we have always understood to be county of nations. There is a regular way of making representations to other governments and that is through the official channels.

It is a case of "him that hath" Greta Garbo can get publicity merely by trying to avoid it as she sincerely tries to do. Other screen stars would give anything to gain the publicity which Garbo has. Bernard Shaw could not create publicity even if he shaved off his whiskers and travelled under an assumed name. But there is nothing of the shrinking violet about Shaw. If public attention is the penalty of greatness he is a glutton for punishment. The rule applied to be that if you do not need publicity you can have more than you want of it for nothing, whereas if you really want it you have to pay for it.

When the United States was under prohibition Canada helped them enforce the law by placing an embargo on the export of beer and spirits to that country. Now that they are going off the dry standstill they will see to it themselves that Canadian beer and spirits do not get in if a high tariff can keep them out.

Many times since it started, the Sino-Japanese war has been crowded off the front page. It would seem to be a dubious enterprise to conduct a war that can be driven off the front page by kidnappings, boycotts, bank failures, earthquakes, tornadoes and Bern and Shaw.

High taxes are a good thing. They call attention to the way we spend money. If the government, federal, provincial and municipal, had only kept increasing the tax rate to meet the expenditure, we should be in a fairly good position today. Instead of that we continue borrowing on the theory that posterity had a right to pay for

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR THE LATE DR. J. W. GIFFEN, SR.

The United Church was filled Tuesday afternoon when the large number wished to show their love and sympathy for the late Dr. J. W. Giffen, who for many years had ministered in joy and sorrow to the people of Strathmore and vicinity.

The casket was banked with a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. The entire family was present at the last rites of the funeral service, comprising Mrs Giffen widow of the deceased, Dr. Don Giffen and wife of Los Angeles, Mr. Fred Giffen and wife, Mr. Aubert, Miss Blanche and Mr. John Giffen.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. E. B. Brundage, Pastor of the Church.

Miss Florence Garrett at the piano rendered very soft and impressive strains, while the solos, One Sweetly Sought Thing, sung by Mr. Lydiate and When the Mists have Cleared Away by Mr. H. Hand, were very beautifully and sympathetically sung.

Mr. Brundage delivered a very appropriate and impressive sermon from the text, In as much as ye have done unto the least of these, ye have done it unto Me.

Mr. Brundage told the lovely story of Henry Van Dyke, Fourth Wise Man and drew from that the lesson that service to others is as the text states, service to God Himself and service and love to one's fellow man the most beautiful and worth while thing in life.

The speaker then said that this could be a very large testament to the deceased physician who in recent years had frequently come at the call of a sick one though in good health was at times risking his own life.

ANNIVERSARY OF VIMY CELEBRATED MONDAY NIGHT

The anniversary of Vimy was J. French was very well given and celebrated Monday evening when well over 175 guests attended the banquet given in the Memorial Hall by the Strathmore Branch soldiers.

The Toast in Memory of Vimy, was ably proposed by Mayor Shrimpton who reviewed some of the conditions of the place and the men gained by the victory and the Canadian Troops. The response by Comrade A. L. Smart of Langdon was equally clever and appropos.

The Toast in Memory of Vimy, was ably proposed by Mayor Shrimpton who reviewed some of the conditions of the place and the men gained by the victory and the Canadian Troops. The response by Comrade A. L. Smart of Langdon was equally clever and appropos.

The Toast to the Ladies was proposed in a brief but finished manner by Mrs. Spence Hughes and belatedly responded to by Mrs. Ben Campbell.

Mr. Stanley Davies of Calgary called on by the chairman gave a short address and one which was filled with thoughtful suggestions that all should be awake and wise to the present, which is to meet wisely and solve beneficially for the greatest well being of all people, the best brains of the strongest and most unselfish men.

Both Mr. Fitch and Mr. Davies congratulated the Legion and Community for the very fine Memorial Hall.

The address by Mr. Fitch the guest speaker of the evening was listened to throughout with closest attention. It was at once very thoughtful and impressive and contained predictions for the future along two paths of action. He said it passively still and do nothing or actively and change the course of the world.

Mr. Fitch began his address by a quite detailed summary of the main events of the war year, by which it related to the Allies.

He said that in 1914 human liberty was in peril and stated no government was justified in sending troops across the frontier of another nation.

He gave a vivid word picture of the world as it was in 1914. Germany, a very powerful nation looking for greater conquests and now her dream shattered as the Kaiser's empire crumbled in the little village of Doorn.

Mr. Fitch stated very emphatically what most people feel that conception of the world which is compulsory with conscription of life, in which case there would be no future wars.

The speaker told of the ten.

YANKEES, PIRATES
PROBABLE WINNERS
IN MAJOR LEAGUES

New York.—The seventh annual Associated Press, pennant poll, with a batting average of .500 to its credit since 1927 points today to the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates as the probable winners of the 1933 major league baseball races.

With the opening of the season early a week off, fourscore experts vote the world champion Yankees a wide margin over all rivals, although noting especially the improvement of such clubs as the Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox. The same critics however figure the Pirates have added sufficient strength to overthrow the Chicago Cubs, particularly since the league champion lost Kiki Cuyler.

Mackmen Lead Support
Exactly sixty out of the seventy-nine American League ballots favor the Yankees to repeat and thereby claim their eighth pennant since 1927. An even dozen name the Senators to spring an upset, at the worst take second place away from the Athletics. Six others still give the chances of the A's despite the loss of Al Simmons from the Philadelphia firing line, but this represents a distinct falling off in support for the Mackmen.

Simmons' shift to the White Sox apparently inspired one solitary pennant vote for the Chicago club. The consensus also reveals the high esteem in which the great slinger is held, his big bat at drawing enough votes to make the White Sox the choice over Detroit for fifth place. This is higher than Sox have been rated in five years.

Pirates Favored
The National League ballots listed 51 of which 42 selected the Pirates to finish first and 21 remained loyal to the chances of the Cubs making it two pennants in a row. The Pirates have been named twice before in the Associated Press poll as probable pennant winners and they too, have a batting average of .500. The Buz, justified the predictions of the experts by winning in 1927 but ran second in 1928 to the St. Louis Cardinals.

This year the Cardinals and Philadelphia are rated nip and tuck for third place. Each receive eight votes for first place to illustrate the wide differences of opinion among National League experts. The Cardinals have a slight edge in the rating as a whole but the prospects of the Phillies are considered better than ever before. Brooklyn and New York are selected for second division berth for the first time, this despite the fact the Dodgers were third last year and figure to be stronger.

Heard on The Street

I took up this game, the hopeless novice said apologetically to his caddy, merely to practice self-control.

Don't worry said the Caddy you will be O K after a while. Struts Whitehead used to be worse than you are.

Photographer: Now, little girl, look this way and you'll see a pretty bride.

Modern Youngster: Oh let's not be absurd! expose the plate and let's have it over with.

The rancher beckoned to his foreman: "Take I wish you'd ride into town and get the correct time. But I haven't got a watch."

A watch! said the rancher, roared. What do you want with a watch? Write it down on a piece of paper.

A grouse had a son in Cornell. At the end of the last year the son came home in high feather. He stood second in his class.

Second? said the father, second? Why didn't you stand first? What do you think I'm sending you to Cornell for?

The young man returned for his second year, determined to win first place. At the end of the year he went home and announced his standing to his father.

The father looked at him a few minutes in silence, then shrugged his shoulders, and said: "At the head of the class eh? Well Cornell can't be much of a university, at all."

In the old country small-law were often given free board and lodging instead of a dowry.

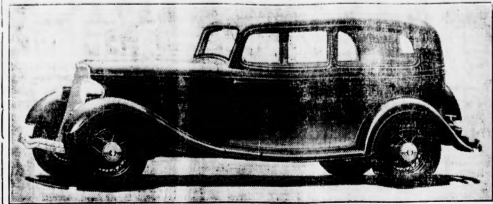

A young man and his sweet heart were discussing ways, and means one day. The girl's father could not afford a dowry.

We might board with your parents till times get better, the young man suggested hopefully.

The guest at the small country hotel was indignant.

Didn't I ask you to be sure to leave me some hot water? he demanded of the maid in the morning.

Yes, sir you did, replied the girl, and to make sure of it I left it for you overnight.

DO YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

The Editor of the Grande Prairie, Alberta, Herald, a newspaper that serves the Great Peace River country so well, in commenting on a small advertisement run in the Herald recently, said:

"We have often heard of psychology in advertising, but it was not until last week that we had an opportunity of trying it out. The results were most gratifying. It all had to do with an advertisement inserted in the Herald's Swap-Barter column. The advertisement was headed in red as follows: 'Will trade 5 tube battery radio receiving set, complete with tubes and loud speaker for good milk cow.'"

Just as the copy was about to go out to the linotype operator to be put in type, along came a member of the town's clergy. He spotted the copy and the humorous side of his make up could not be controlled. He suggested that the phrasing of the advertisement be slightly changed. We agreed, and as a result the copy appeared in print as follows: 'Will trade 5 tube battery radio receiving set for a good milk cow, complete with tubes and loud speaker.'"

The results were almost spontaneous. The Herald had been in the mails but a few hours when the phone began to buzz with enquiries about the cow with tubes and loud speaker. Passersby stopped at the office window and laughingly asked us if we still had the cow. Saturday morning's mail from the west had its quota of comments.

Most interesting of all, however, was the fact that a farmer in the Hualien district wrote in to say that he wanted the radio and had a cow to offer in trade. The applicant did not state whether or not the cow came up to the specifications as set forth. It was not mentioned. At any rate we handed the reply to the advertiser and it is hoped that both parties are now satisfied.

CREDIT IS STIFLED BY THE GOVERNMENTS

The Financial Post says failure to balance government budgets in Canada is sapping credit from industry and commerce. In this way governments are exerting a baneful effect upon prices levels.

Economists agree that we must have higher prices for recovery. In Canada governments are helping to prevent this development.

When depression comes, banks find that their commercial loans are liquidated by borrowers. They properly bring about liquidation of their weaker loans. If they have idle funds on their hands, they employ the money in government bonds, although this is not nearly as profitable for banks as commercial loans. In Canada banks invested about $250,000,000 in provincial and Dominion government bonds between January 1929 and February 1932. This more than doubled their total holdings of such securities.

If the governments of this country were balancing their budgets this investment in their securities would be a good thing for business. It would force the yield of government bonds down and would expand other forms of credit. It would create a broader basis for private credit.

Those from whom the banks purchased the securities would deposit the funds in the banks. Thus the banks' securities portfolio would be swelled with little problem of deposits. Deposits might even increase. A certain portion of these bank deposits would then be seeking profitable employment. They would probably go into high-grade public utility securities. The process of maintenance or increase of deposits would continue, despite such investments by individual depositors and by banks.

Then investment would tend to go into industrial securities, real estate mortgages, etc. This would bring down interest rates on such investments. Confidence would be created. Consumer buying power should be maintained. If less of the national income were exacted by taxation. A demand for commercial loans would be built up. Revival would be in process.

But here is what is now happening in Canada and what has been going on for three years:

Banks are liquidating their weaker loans and if loans liquidated which they would have preferred to continue. The banks have been heavy buyers of government securities. They would like to lend to commerce, but cannot do so because there is no legitimate demand for funds. The price of government securities has, therefore, been inclined to firmness. The first part of the process outlined above has been completed.

Here governments have stepped in and stopped it. They have continued to create deficits. This deficit has resulted in the creation of new government debt. This new debt has helped up any funds which would ordinarily tend to flow into industry by process of evolution. As fast as the banks and other institutions and individuals have bought government securities, new debt has been created by the governments. Long and short term credit cannot get into industry as long as governments are thus viciously hogging it.

Banks can do little about this stifling of credit. They have no choice but to purchase government securities, which policy but for government deficits, would start the expansion of credit which is so sorely needed. It is worse than useless for governments to attempt price stabilization schemes as long as their own financial policies are preventing the flow of credit which is necessary to raise prices.

TORONTO FIRM GETS CONTRACT FOR MILLIONS OF BOOKS FOR VATICAN

Toronto—For the first time in the history of the Vatican, authorization has been given for the awarding of a huge printing contract outside of Italy, and this contract representing millions of books has been given to a Toronto firm. The Star learned from a representative of the firm, Monsignor Enrico Pucci, domestic prelate in the Vatican who is a visitor in the city today.

The Toronto firm, the name of which will not be made public for three or four weeks yet, will handle the printing, publishing and distribution of the English version of the Vatican memorial series of books throughout the entire British empire. The order, running into millions of books is understood to be one of the largest, if not the largest contract of its kind ever awarded in Canada.

Work on the books will start in about 60 days. The Star was told. Representing an entirely new project for the Catholic Church, the books intended according to Monsignor Pucci's representative, to compensate the many millions of Catholics who will never have an opportunity to visit the Vatican and who will gain thereby some idea of its beauty.

Volume will contain fine reproductions of pictures, made in the Vatican by Vernon Howe Bailey a United States citizen who has been doing some outstanding artistic work in Europe. It is understood that the paper and other materials used in the books as well as the labor detailed in their printing will be supplied totally. An order for some 3,200,000 cards showing scenes in the Vatican will also likely be awarded to the Toronto firm. The text on the cards will be written by Monsignor Pucci and will be translated into practically every known language.

OIL ENGINE TO REVOLUTIONIZE TRAVEL

London, England. Industrialists of all countries are watching the developments of a new kind of motive power which is likely to revolutionize transport throughout the world.

Already the stage is set for a heavy oil engine run on fuel taken from coal. This fuel—which is being tried out in locomotives, lorries and aeroplanes—is 50 per cent cheaper than any other form of power.

The oil is being extracted from coal by a new process evolved by British scientists.

Imperial Chemical Industries have spent $250,000 on establishing the production of petrol from coal on a commercial basis.

The establishment for the extraction of oil and petrol from coal is imminent.

Every mile of its progress will be watched in the countries where long tracts of almost waterless country make steam engines a serious problem.

For the oil electric locomotive requires no water and no supplies. Its running costs are little less than half of those which operate even where water is plentiful and coal is cheap.

That is why the railways are watching and waiting and why British firms are prepared to be in on the floor of this great new industry when the international situation improves.

One of Irvin Cobb's best stories concerns an appraiser who was sent to a home to appraise the contents. The entries in his book halted when he came to a table on which was left a full bottle of old Scotch and then continued: One bottle of old Scotch whisky partly full.

The next entry was: One revolving Turkish rug.
